DIVISION OF STATE POLICE

As at present constituted, the Division of State Police includes the uniformed police, a bureau of State Police Detectives, a bureau of State Police Fire Inspectors and a number of civilian employees necessary to effective operation. Original appointments to the division are made as patrolman in the uniformed ranks and advancement in rating depends upon the efficiency and qualifications of the individual. The division functions as a unit with the sole object of developing intelligent and effective police service.

The uniformed force is organized with a headquarters at the State House and in four troops with headquarters at strategic points throughout the State, each troop covering a separate enforcement zone. In addition to the troop headquarters in each zone, there are four sub-stations so located within the zone as to provide effective operation. The average age of state police officers is thirty years and the average length of service is five years. This force is charged with the duty of enforcing the laws generally, protecting property, apprehending and prosecuting criminals, controlling traffic and assisting local authorities when requested or in emergencies. Among the important services rendered to local communities are assistance given during conflagrations, floods, epidemics of disease, forest fires, major accidents, special duty at fairs, celebrations and other occasions where large numbers of people are assembled.

EQUIPMENT OF STATE POLICE

Uniforms. Each member of the uniformed force is provided with two complete winter uniforms, a leather coat and two complete summer uniforms. An additional supply of fatigue and training equipment and a small emergency reserve of clothing are maintained at all times. All uniforms are carefully inspected and necessary repairs are made whenever required so that all uniforms are kept in good serviceable condition.

Emergency and First Aid. Each motorcycle in the division has been provided with a special carrier for the purpose of carrying first aid kits. Thus each man who rides a motorcycle has facilities at hand at all times to take care of any emergency that may arise where first aid is needed. Each automobile in the division is also equipped with a first aid kit and large first aid kits are kept on hand at the various stations in sufficient quantity to take care of any emergency that may arise.

Weapons. Each member is provided with a Smith and Wesson, six shot, calibre .38 revolver and a Peerless handcuff. Each station is provided with riot guns of all types. A supply of tear gas is also maintained, which is adapted to laying down a gas cloud and a sufficient number of tear gas bombs and gas masks are provided.

Motor Vehicles. The division is provided with the following motor vehicle equipment:

237 Motorcycles	1 American-La France Truck
54 Touring Cars	1 Dodge Truck
9 Chevrolet Coupes	1 Ford Truck
1 Reo Coupe	4 Reo Trucks.
15 Studebaker Sedans

The matter of transportation is a very important factor in police work as it cuts down the time element in solving criminal cases, widens the range of operations of each station and is absolutely necessary in the regulation of traffic.

Horses. The division is provided with 38 horses. The horse is necessary for handling crowds at fairs, parades and other situations involving the gathering of large numbers of people; for reaching districts not provided with suitable road for motor vehicles; and for patrol on roads impassable to motor vehicles during bad weather. They are also used for the purpose of training recruits at the State Police Training School.

STATE POLICE DETECTIVES

The detective bureau of the state police consists of a chief of detectives and twenty-one members under his charge. These men enforce the criminal law and investigate felonies where no organized police are maintained, or where maintained, when requested, prosecute cases in the municipal and district courts and act as aids to the district attorneys in the preparation of cases for prosecution in the superior court. They are also available for special investigations for the Executive Department, the Attorney-General's office and other state departments.

STATE POLICE FIRE INSPECTORS

The state police fire inspectors are assigned to perform their duties in the division of fire prevention under the direction of a state police chief fire inspector. In order to insure systematic administration of their duties the inspectors are assigned to designated districts. These districts are determined territorially and the headquarters of the inspector is so located that he is readily accessible to all members of the community. The work of these inspectors includes the investigation of causes of fires and, if such fires are found to have been due to incendiarism, to detect and apprehend the person responsible, the preparation of evidence for fire inquests and for the prosecution of the cases in court.

EFFECTIVE POLICE SERVICE

In the performance of their duties during the year just ended the State police have developed many outstanding instances of effective police work. The few instances which are cited below are given because they illustrate the character of the work of the State Police in the ordinary routine of their duties.

(a) A patrolman had been called to the assistance of town police officers who had attempted to serve an order of commitment upon an insane woman. When the attempt was made to serve the order, the woman was found to be armed with a loaded revolver and to have resisted efforts to take her. In the course of her resistance she had fired several shots at the officers. Upon the arrival of the state police patrolman, the woman, who had locked herself and her small child in a room in the upper floor of her home, fired through the door at him when he requested admittance. Exercising coolness and judgment, the patrolman waited until the weapon was emptied and then forced the door. Confronting the woman, he succeeded by peaceful persuasion in disarming her, thus preventing serious or fatal injuries to all parties concerned.

(b) A resident of a small town was found shot and killed in his home. Among other articles found near the body was a fragment of wood, which later was found to fit the broken stock of a shotgun owned by the suspect. The suspect offered an alibi by which he sought to place himself at a point far distant from the scene of the murder on the night of its occurrence. A patrolman who was present at the questioning of the suspect recalled that on the night of the murder he stopped the suspect within five minutes walk of the home of the murdered man to caution him concerning a defective tail light on his automobile. This identification, together with other evidence, brought about the con-victim of the suspect for murder in the first degree, and he was later electrocuted.

(c) On September 27, 1932, the home of Judge Thayer of the Superior Court at Worcester was bombed. In connection with the investigation of this crime, it was deemed advisable to check up on quantities of dynamite reported stolen from every city and town in the State. Through the medium of the teletype and motorcycle officers from the various stations and sub-stations, a complete checkup of every city and town in the State was completed in approximately seven hours. During this investigation also it was necessary to interview the users of certain roads in the vicinity of Worcester. This check-up required three days and in the course of the investigation 1,505 persons were interviewed and their statements transcribed and submitted for further investigation.

(d) On October 17, 1932, at 9 p.m., a hold-up occurred at the Mechanics Cooperative Bank in Taunton, in which four bandits took part and $7,700 in cash was stolen. On receipt of a telephone call from the Taunton Police, patrols were immediately sent out to cover the roads in the vicinity and a detail of officers went to the assistance of the local police. Early on the following morning the four men were arrested in an adjoining town and $5,000 of the amount stolen was recovered. Within ten hours of the time when the crime was committed the greater part of the stolen money was recovered, the four participants in the crime arrested and two stolen automobiles used in the commission of the crime were recovered. The four bandits who participated in this crime have since been convicted and sentenced to terms in prison.

(e) Upon investigation of larcenies reported by various farmers in western Middlesex County, seven persons were arrested and charged with breaking and entering and larceny in the night time. The arrest and prosecution of these men cleared up approximately fifty reported larcenies, the defendants being convicted upon prosecution in court and later sentenced. The thefts in these cases covered a wide variety of articles including chickens, eggs, gasoline, kerosene, harness oil, clothing, wood, lumber, electric light poles, garden produce, fruit, farm tools, automobile parts, fuel and furniture. One of the defendants in this case when arrested was driving an automobile loaded with some of the above-mentioned stolen articles and was en route to a destination in the maritime provinces.

(f) Upon receipt of a call for assistance from officers in a Worcester County town, a patrolman accompanied the officers in the investigation of certain larcenies from some cottages in the town. Tracing footsteps in the snow leading to a house, the patrolman entered the house and arrested two armed men. These arrests resulted in clearing up reports of the breaking and entering of thirty-two cottages in that part of the county.

(g) On June 28, 1932, at 2:15 a.m., a patrolman discovered five men in the act of stealing gasoline from the tank of a steam roller which was being used in road construction in Worcester County. The officer took the five men to the nearest sub-station, where they were booked for the larceny of the gasoline. Upon further examination they were found to have participated in a hold-up and robbery in Middlesex County.

(h) A group of swindlers prepared and distributed so called information blanks with intent to defraud business firms. On these blanks the genuine signatures of many business firms were secured. They then devised spurious contracts out of the blanks and printed them over the genuine signatures. The contracts purported to be for advertising in a fake directory made by the conspirators by stripping and faking a standard directory already published and by altering it to suit the scheme of the swindlers. They then proceeded to collect from business concerns and in the process exhibited a copy of the fake directory. This scheme to defraud was broken up by the work of a state detective, who was assigned to the case and who in cooperation with better business interests protected from the swindlers more than 250 business firms whose signatures had been secured through the fraud.

(i) A scheme to create a fictitious value or market price for the sale of stock to the public with false representations as to its value was set on foot by a group of conspirators. Contacts were made with the public by means of salesmen, radio and literature, and subscribers were otherwise solicited. Numerous sales were made and the fraud well advanced when a state detective was assigned to assist the District Attorney in charge of an investigation of the scheme. This investigation resulted in the arrest and conviction of the conspirators for conspiracy to defraud and larceny.

TELETYPE

The State Police Teletype has developed to such an extent since its inception on December 30, 1930, that a brief sketch of its growth may be of interest.

On December 31, 1930, a teletype machine was installed for demonstration at the State Police Headquarters in the State House. This machine was connected to the Police circuit comprising 32 police departments in and around Boston. This was a party-line and what one department sent, all other departments on the circuit received. As a result of a six months study of this circuit it was decided that a police teletype system was a practical idea and, therefore, an official teletype unit was organized and trained.

On July 1, 1931, a teletype switchboard and three teletype machines were installed in the State House and at the same time one machine was installed in each Troop Headquarters (Framingham, Northampton, Holden, West Bridgewater) with direct connections to the State House. With this set-up we were able to send to all Troop Headquarters at once or to any desired Troop and at the same time receive messages from the other Troops. This hook-up covered, however, only the Troop Headquarters area and necessitated a relay to the sub-stations in each troop by telephone.

On April 1, 1932, teletype machines were installed at all our sub-stations. These were on a party line connected to their respective Troop Headquarters. In order for a message to be sent from the State House to a sub-station, it was sent to the Troop Headquarters of that sub-station and then relayed on the sub-station circuit to the desired sub-station. Also, if a sub-station in one Troop desired to send a message to a sub-station in another Troop, the sub-station sent its message to its Headquarters and they in turn relayed it to the Headquarters of the desired sub-station who in turn relayed it to the sub-station.

Shortly after this, a circuit from the Springfield and Worcester Police Departments was connected to our Troop Headquarters station at Holden at no cost to the Commonwealth. With this hook-up Springfield and Worcester could by relay send a message to any State Police Station and also to any department on the Greater Boston Police circuit. In turn we could send messages by relay through the Springfield Police to both the Municipal and State Police Systems of Connecticut, there being a total of 23 stations on the Connecticut systems covering the entire state.

On April 15, 1932, an additional teletype machine was installed at the State Police station at Lee connecting the Massachusetts State Police Teletype System to the New York State Police Teletype System and through this connection it was possible to send and receive messages to and from the New Jersey and Pennsylvania Police Teletype Systems comprising a total of 656 teletype stations in the five states and constituting the so-called Five State Police Broadcast circuit.

On July 1, 1932, another teletype machine was installed at the State House—known as the "Coast to Coast" machine. On this circuit it is possible to send a message to any city, town, or state police in the United States that has a teletype machine installation. However, there is no cost for this machine except a standard rate charge whenever the machine is used.

On November 1, 1932, the system of handling teletype communications which, as above stated, necessitated a relay of each State House broadcast to each Headquarters and from the Troop Headquarters to its sub-stations was eliminated and a new system set up by the installation of teletype switchboards at each Troop Headquarters. With these switchboards, the operator at each Troop Headquarters can set up a through connection from the State House to any station desired—or set up a through connection from any one station to any other station on the Massachusetts State Police System, including also the Worcester and Springfield Police Departments. Provision is also made so that the control point at the State House may, if it is so desired, send to all stations throughout the State in one transmission. As an example of how this transmission is handled, the control point sends out the code signal "G. B. C." (General Broadcast) and each Troop Headquarters' Teletype Operator sets up a broadcast connection to all his sub-stations and associates this set-up with the State House line. An interval of 20 seconds is allowed for the switch-over by the control point and, at the expiration of this interval, the message to be broadcast is sent out from the control point and is being received at all the stations throughout the state on the State Police circuit.

EXAMPLES ILLUSTRATING THE UTILITY AND EFFICIENCY OF THE TELETYPE SYSTEM OF POLICE COMMUNICATION

(a) At 6:10 a.m., July 2, 1932, a message was sent to all troop headquarters and sub-stations that an Autocar Truck, Maine registration x-29 (last three figures unknown), was stolen in Portland, Maine. About three hours later a supplementary message reporting this registration to be x-29,014 was broadcast to all troops and sub-stations. At 9:45 p.m. of the same day the Framingham station reported that Autocar Truck, Main Registration x-29,014, had been recovered by officers at the Wrentham sub-station and that two men who were riding in the truck had been arrested. The owners of the truck at Portland were immediately notified of its recovery.

(b) At 9:58 p.m., July 4, 1932, an inquiry was broadcast to all stations and sub-stations concerning a person missing from Hartford, Connecticut, who was supposed to be operating a Buick Roadster. This request was relayed from the State Police at Hartford, Connecticut, at the request of the family of the missing person. At 10:10 p.m. or twelve minutes after the first message had been broadcast the Framingham station reported that the person in question had been found at the Norwood Hospital by officers of the Wrentham sub-station. This information was immediately relayed to the State Police at Hartford, Connecticut.

(c) At 10:40 a.m., August 24, 1932, a message was sent to all troops and sub-stations that a person of a certain name and description, driving an automobile with New Jersey registration numbers, was wanted for a serious offence involving a feeble minded girl, sixteen years of age. At 7:30 p.m. of the same day a supplementary message was broadcast, giving the information that the person wanted had checked out of a Boston hotel with the announced intention of going to one of the county fairs. At 1:08 p.m., the following day the state police sub-station at Norwell reported the party under arrest and held for the authorities of the town in which the offence was committed.

(d) At 10:54 a.m., August 18, 1932, a message was sent to all troops and sub-stations, giving the registration of an automobile stolen in Rhode Island. At midnight of the same day the Pittsfield Police reported to our Northampton station for relay to Connecticut, where the owner of the car was located, the information that the car and its operator were being held at Pittsfield awaiting action of the Connecticut officers.

(e) At 8:44 a.m., November 29, 1932, a message was broadcast to all stations and over the Five State circuit that a holdup had occurred at the North Brookfield Bank, giving the registration of a Massachusetts car used in the holdup and ordering all roads covered in the vicinity of the holdup. Eleven minutes later the information was broadcast that the Massachusetts car mentioned in the previous item had been found abandoned. At 9:04 a.m. or twenty minutes after the original broadcast descriptions of the holdup men were broadcast to all stations. At 9:05 another message was broadcast and transmitted also to our radio station, giving the number of a car, bearing Connecticut registration plates, to which four men were seen changing from another car at North Brookfield. One hour and five minutes later, at 10:10 a.m., the Connecticut State Police at Stafford Springs reported that they had picked up two of the holdup men in the Connecticut automobile reported in the previous item. At 4:45 p.m., the same day a message was received at the State House with the information that the two remaining holdup men had been arrested at Hartford, Connecticut, with the money stolen from the bank in their possession. Three of the bandits involved in this holdup pleaded "Guilty" in the Brookfield District Court twenty-four hours after its occurrence. The fourth pleaded "Not Guilty" and all were held in $25,000 bail for the Grand Jury.

RADIO

During the year ending November 30, 1932, the State Police Radio facilities have been greatly improved and the groundwork laid for further development in 1933.

In November, 1931, we had one 350-watt station at Framingham covering a radius of twenty-five miles and serving fifteen cruiser cars equipped with receiving sets. Early in 1932 authority was received from the Federal Radio Commission for the construction and operation of three 1000-watt stations. The first of these has been constructed and in operation since July at Framingham covering a radius of forty miles and serving thirty-five cruiser cars. A similar station is being completed at West Bridgewater and a third is under construction at Northampton. Authority was also secured for the construction and operation of a mobile station. This station is an independent unit mounted on a truck and capable of generating its own power. The mobile station can maintain a two-way communication with our fixed radio stations from any part of the state and can also direct the operation of cruiser cars over a radius of fifteen miles.

State Police Station WMP broadcasted 4,999 times during 1932 with a total of 25,606 separate items transmitted. This indicates an increase over the work of 1931 of 2,199 broadcasts and 10,606 items transmitted.

These figures and the expansion now in process of development afford an example of the growth of police radio communications. With the completion of our new transmitting stations at West Bridgewater and Northampton, it is estimated that our operations will cover the entire state and serve approximately eighty of our cruiser cars. As this service is available to such cities and towns as equip their police department automobiles with receiving sets, its value to the commonwealth in the prevention of crime and the apprehension of criminals cannot be overestimated.

INSTANCES IN WHICH PROMPT RESULTS WERE REACHED THROUGH THE MEDIUM OF THE STATE POLICE RADIO

On February 25, 1932, a telephone call was received at Station WMP reporting on accident on Route 20 in Sudbury. A message was broadcasted to reach a cruiser on patrol in that vicinity. The officers in the cruiser car received the radio message and proceeded towards the scene of the accident. In Wayland they observed two men walking in the highway in an intoxicated condition. Upon arresting them, they learned that they were the occupants of the car which caused the accident. The men were prosecuted for drunkenness, operating under the influence of liquor and for driving so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public.

On May 10, 1932, on the Post Road in Sudbury, a cruiser received a radio call notifying them of an accident in the vicinity and on proceeding to the scene arrested two men under the influence of liquor who had stolen an automobile and wrecked it in the accident.

On November 19, 1932, a telephone call was received at the Concord substation reporting a break in a store at Maynard. This report was received at 1:20 a.m. A cruiser car from the Concord station was at that time in the vicinity of Maynard. A teletype message was sent from the State House to Troop A Headquarters at Framingham and a radio broadcast sent out to reach the cruiser car. Almost immediately after receiving the radio message, the officer in the cruiser car apprehended and arrested three men with the property stolen from the store. One of these men was on parole for a similar previous offence and another on probation from superior court after a conviction for robbery.

Upon the receipt of a telephone message from the Weston police that they had been notified that a man was seen to enter a house in Weston at a late hour, Station WMP dispatched a cruiser car to the location and the burglar was caught in the house.

Upon receipt of notice of the bank holdup at North Brookfield, November 29, 1932, Lieutenant Shimkus and Sergeant Canavan left Holden on Cruiser No. 51, taking a back road to Brookfield. While en route they were kept informed of all developments in the case, including the report of the abandonment of the bandit car, the registration of the Connecticut car used by the bandits in their escape and descriptions of the bandits. They were thus supplied with information as it developed without delay, enabling them to plan their movements intelligently.

CONTROL OF TRAFFIC

During the year 1932, the Traffic Division of the State Police functioned with a personnel of 1 Lieutenant, 1 Sergeant and 122 patrolmen. At present they are assigned as follows: Troop "A", covering Essex, Middlesex and Norfolk Counties, 35 patrolmen; Troop "B", covering Berkshire, Hampden, Hampshire and Franklin Counties, 25 patrolmen; Troop "C", covering Worcester County, 35 Patrolmen; Troop "D", covering Plymouth, Bristol, Barnstable, Dukes and Nantucket Counties, 25 patrolmen; and at Headquarters in the State House for administrative and inspection duties, 1 Lieutenant, 1 Sergeant and 2 patrolmen.

The record of activities of the division show an increase of 25% over the work of 1931 and a consequential decrease of accidents in the areas patrolled by this organization of approximately 20%. With no additional men assigned to this work in 1932, though there have been approximately 250 miles of new State road built which requires their supervision, it is gratifying to report a decrease in accidents in our patrol areas, due to constant patrol and supervision.

The members of the division handled 34,135 auto violations during the year, which were disposed as follows: Warning given by officer—16,003; Summons to court—11,595; Arrests—888; Warnings by letter from this office—5,453; Suspension of license or registration by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles—196.

The personnel of the division also served 38,257 cards on drivers of motor vehicles containing notification of defective equipment of automobiles. These cards are made in duplicate and are used for the purpose of notifying the owners of motor vehicles to have the defects remedied. When this has been done, the automobile owner or driver is required to secure the signature of a representative of the Registrar at an approved testing station. It is further provided that the card be then mailed to State Police Headquarters.

In addition to maintaining traffic patrols, the division handled the following assignments: Escorts given—170, for a total of 987 one-man days; requests from other State departments for service—63, for a total of 1,066 one-man days; requests for traffic officers from other police departments—125, for a total of 986 one-man days. Officers were also assigned to duty at 12 agricultural fairs in number sufficient to total 672 one-man days.

With the completion of the new Boston-Worcester Turnpike and the Southwest cut-off around the city of Worcester, which will open up a high-speed thoroughfare from Boston to Springfield and cut at least a half an hour from the running time between these two points, it will be necessary to maintain a twenty-four hour patrol over these roads. This will materially increase the duties of the division on this road alone.

However, from experience gained in handling the situation on the Newbury-port Turnpike, where a decrease of 20% in the accident ratio is shown this year, it is believed that this situation can be handled in such manner as will afford the highest possible degree of traffic safety to the motoring public of the State.

TRAINING SCHOOL

Commencing December 1, 1931, the entire uniformed personnel of the State Police were recalled to the school in groups of 30 for reconditioning and instruction. This course of reconditioning was completed May 1, 1932. As a part of the instruction given during this period, these men shot the prescribed course for pistol shooting and qualified as follows: 60% as experts; 30% as sharpshooters; and 10% as marksmen.

Following this period, a course of instruction for municipal police was prepared and conducted by the school in the cities of Holyoke, Pittsfield, Springfield, Chicopee and Brockton. Police from towns adjacent to these cities also attended the classes, making a total of 741 officers in attendance.

The period devoted to this course extended from July 18, 1932, to December 23, 1932; and among the subjects covered were Criminal Law, Police and Court Procedure, Shooting and Care of Firearms, Jiu-Jitsu, Traffic Direction and Drill. Lectures illustrating the value of evidence were also given with the aid of stereopticon slides.

STATE POLICE BOAT "PROTECTOR"

The State Police Boat "Protector" remained on outside patrol throughout the year. During the spring and autumn frequent visits of inspection were made to outlying islands where summer cottages are located. In the latter part of April and the early part of May several visits were made to the Elizabeth Islands in Buzzards Bay in connection with the kidnaping of the infant son of Charles Lindbergh. In numerous instances assistance was given to water craft in distress, the disabled craft being picked up and towed to safe moorings. In the month of July the Police Boat acted as courtesy escort to the British Cruiser "H. M. S. Scarborough" during her visit to New Bedford.

Considerable time was devoted during the summer to spotting fish trap locations in coastal waters to determine conformity to Massachusetts laws and the requirements of the United States War Department.

Complaints regarding noisy motorboats were numerous this year. Chapter 232 of the Acts of 1932 was of material assistance in combating this situation. Investigations have been made on the Connecticut River at Turners Falls, Millers Falls and Springfield, Dudley Pond in Wayland, Tyng's Pond in Tyngsboro, Lake Quinsigamond in Worcester and Shrewsbury, Cohasset Harbor, Charles River at West Medway, Lake Congamond in Southwick, Pontoosic Lake in Pittsfield, Sandy Pond in Ayer, Onset, New Bedford, Marion, Plymouth, Duxbury, Quincy, Braintree, Hull, Weymouth, Hingham, Lake Pearl in Wrentham, Robbins Pond in East Bridgewater, Lake Boone in Stow, Lake Nippenicut in Bridgewater, and Whalom Lake in Lunenburg. The number of motorboats inspected was 157 and outboard motorboats 186. Of this number 46 were warned regarding their lights and 22 for mufflers.

The pollution of coastal waters and rivers by oil is one of the most serious problems with which we have to deal. This year serious conditions of this kind were caused by the grounding of the Tanker "New England" in Buzzards Bay, a bad spill of gasoline at a refinery, the collision of a tank steamer with the Slades Ferry Bridge at Fall River and the disabling of another tank steamer at the entrance of Buzzards Bay. Inspections were carried out at Oil Plants on 319 occasions. Oil Tankers, Supply Boats and Freighters were boarded in 63 instances. An investigation was made of the laying of pipe lines for oil on the bed of the Town River in Quincy and steps are being taken by the State Fire Marshall to remedy a bad condition found at this location. In all of these instances excellent cooperation was received from the officials of the oil companies involved.

In many instances assistance was rendered to the Division of Fish and Game in the Department of Conservation upon their request. Prosecutions for violations of the fisheries law were made in several instances, including larceny from lobster pots and the digging of clams from restricted areas.

The legislature in May, 1932, enacted legislation concerning the operation of motor and other boats on the waters of the Commonwealth for the purpose of safeguarding life and property and provided that regulations for that purpose be promulgated by the Commissioner of Public Safety.

Such regulations were made and promulgated and are now working effectively throughout the Commonwealth.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

In the administration and enforcement of laws, rules and regulations relating to public safety it is desirable to secure contact of understanding with the public generally in order to effect that degree of coordination and cooperation necessary to success.

During the year ending November 30, 1932, the aims, purposes and resources of the department were impressed upon the public in many ways, particularly through the medium of talks on safety subjects and police activities. These talks were delivered by members of the department specially qualified for the work to audiences of school children and their instructors, policemen, firemen, veterans' organizations, granges, rotary clubs and similar organizations, women's clubs, leagues and associations, men's clubs of churches of various denominations, and fraternal organizations. The talks have been illustrated by stereopticon slides and have included instructive accounts of the activities of the State Police, finger printing and classification in criminal identification, ballistic work in criminal investigation, and highway safety.

An exhibit designed to show the organization and resources of the State Police was maintained at the agricultural fairs at Sturbridge, Topsfield, Brockton, Springfield and Northampton. In connection with this exhibit the attention of the public was brought to the new State Police mobile radio transmitter. This independent radio unit is mounted on a truck and is intended for use in localities cut off from ordinary communication by fire, floods, riots or similar disturbances or for directing the operation of cruiser cars within a particular radius without impairing the regular operation of the state wide radio communication system.

It is estimated that the number of persons actually contacted in this public safety work approximates 500,000.

CRIMINAL IDENTIFICATION

During the fiscal year of 1932 there has been a great increase in the number of finger print records and photographs received in the department. By comparison with statistical tables of former annual reports, the number of finger print records received this year exceeds all past records, there being a 46% increase over the number for the previous year. There has also been a gain of 24% in the number of Modus Operandi photographs. This increase may be attributed in part to exchange of records with the State Farm and co-operation of police and prison officials, together with an increased interest in criminal identification shown by all concerned.

Bureaus of identification have been established by the Department of Correction at the Billerica House of Correction and at the State Farm. The latter institution will contribute approximately 1200 finger print records annually to our files. Owing to the increased amount of work, it has become necessary to revise all our files by combining name index cards and segregating the finger print files in order that our records may be more readily accessible.

A great deal of service has been given during the year to agencies such as Federal departments, court officials, social service workers and the various police departments who are utilizing the services of this department.

The instruction of police officers in finger print classification has also increased materially this year. The Harvard Law School Research Bureau, with whom we have cooperated in research study of reformatory boys for the past five years, requested our assistance this year also in the follow-up of the records of five hundred offenders in an endeavor to complete a study of these records for the period beginning January, 1926.

Two goals of increased efficiency in criminal identification have been attained this year; first, the complete name indexing of 18,798 Modus Operandi photographs and second, the improvement in recording final dispositions of cases.

The indexing of photographs furnishes a means by which records can be quickly located according to the crime of the offender. The use of the finger print system for immediate identifications is steadily growing in proportion and results in an increased demand for police records which are to be used in the various sessions of the course. Many police records come to our files without means of recording a final disposition of the case. To correct this and to complete criminal records, forms have been prepared, which are sent to the various police authorities, requesting information concerning final dispositions. This procedure has been devised in order that our records may be as complete as possible and so that they may include special characteristics of criminals as indicated by their mode of operating.

In addition to a newly devised history chart for inmates of the State Prison, the improved finger print forms and records of dispositions of cases and the exchange of criminal records with the Department of Justice facilitate the compiling of complete criminal histories in our files.

During the past year a large number of our criminal records were transferred from obsolete wooden filing cases to modern steel fireproof filing cases. This measure was found to be absolutely necessary since the number of records on file has grown so vast that our old equipment was no longer ample to take care of the increase. Many of these records cannot be replaced and represent twenty-five years of operation.

Following is the statistical report of the activities of the Division of State Police for the year 1932:

BUREAU OF EXPERT ASSISTANTS

The activities of this group includes a variety of subjects embracing the analysis, testing and inspection of explosives and inflammables, investigations concerning the manufacture and use of firearms and ammunition, ballistic activities, photomicrography, finger printing and classification, microscopy, handwriting and photography. The personnel assigned to the bureau aid also in the investigation of capital crimes and give expert testimony in the trial of criminal cases in the courts.

The facilities for the work of this unit were improved during the year by the use of more commodious quarters and an additional assistant was added, making a total of five men available for calls for expert service. More than 800 such calls were responded to during the year, many of them from authorities in local communities who are without facilities for expert service of the kind available in the bureau.

Assistance was requested and given in several instances in cases arising in other jurisdictions where the service of experts of known qualifications was desirable.

The bureau is equipped, in so far as our means will permit, with the best equipment available, and the resources of the unit have been utilized to capacity throughout the year. Much of the success attained by other units of the department has been in a large measure enhanced by the assistance rendered them by the skilled personnel of this bureau. The effectiveness of the policy of meeting modern crime conditions with modern methods of crime detection and prosecution is aptly demonstrated by the work of this unit of the department.

DIVISION OF INSPECTION

The division is authorized by statute to enforce the requirements of Chapters 143 and 146 of the General Laws.

Chapter 143 contains the requirements relative to the construction, care and equipment of public buildings and to the safe occupancy thereof; the requirements for the inspection of elevators in communities where no building official is employed; and the inspection and certification of the cinematograph or moving picture machines and equipment and the examination of applicants for licenses for the operation of such machines.

Chapter 146 relates to the inspection of the construction, equipment, operation and certification of steam boilers air tanks and ammonia compressors. It also includes provisions for the examination and licensing of engineers and firemen.

The statute authorizes the following personnel in the division:—a Chief of Inspections appointed by His Excellency the Governor; a Board of Boiler Rules consisting of four members in addition to the Chief of Inspections, who is Chairman; a Board of Elevator Regulations; 26 boiler inspectors and 22 building inspectors appointed by the Commissioner. In view of economic conditions, it would seem that the duties of the division would have decreased during the past few years. The contrary is, however, the case. The readjustments taking place in the business world relative to changed occupancy of buildings to meet present conditions have materially added to the work of the building inspectors. The same is applicable to the boiler inspectors, because the changes and reductions in the amount of machinery used and the necessity of reducing expenses and of decreasing the number of employees have created a necessity of frequent conferences and other duties impossible to record in reports. I am pleased to report a most agreeable cooperation on the part of the inspectors in the enforcement of the requirements of these important statutes. Our aim has been to secure compliance with the laws by cooperation and assistance rather than by assuming a drastic or arbitrary attitude. Nevertheless, we have insisted upon and have secured strict compliance with the law by a careful survey of conditions and with due regard for the public safety at all times.

BOARD OF BOILER RULES

The Commissioner is authorized to appoint a Board of Boiler Rules under the provisions of Section 10 of Chapter 22, whose duty is to formulate the rules required by Sections 2, 3 and 4 of Chapter 146. This Board has held regular monthly meetings, with the exception of July and August, at which interpretations of the rules have been passed upon and suggestions for changes received. The statute also provides for two public hearings during the year, on the first Thursdays in May and November, to consider petitions for changes in the steam boiler rules. In consequence of these public hearings, many changes in the rules are under consideration by the Board and will probably be ready for submission within a few months for the approval of the Honorable Executive Council.

BOARD OF ELEVATOR REGULATIONS

The Commissioner under the provisions of Section 11 of Chapter 22 is required to appoint, as occasion may demand, a Board of Elevator Regulations consisting of the Chief of Inspections and six others representing as many different interests in the Commonwealth. No Board has been appointed during the year, as no request for changes has been received.

BUILDING INSPECTION.

The duties of building inspectors require, in some classes of buildings a monthly inspection, in others semi-annual or annual inspection depending upon conditions observed the inspectors. The inspector is held responsible for the correction of conditions found and must enforce the law when necessary, using his best judgment in each case and accepting responsibility therefor.

BOILER AND AIR TANK INSPECTION

The duties of boiler inspectors require an annual inspection and report of each boiler in their districts, excepting those under periodical inspection by a regular insurance company authorized to inspect and insure steam boilers in this Commonwealth. The law provides for an external inspection under steam; but in consequence of the increase in the number of boilers, no time is available for this inspection unless more inspectors are provided. In addition to their other duties, the boiler inspectors must examine applicants for licenses as engineers, firemen and for the operation of hoisting machinery. This service takes practically one day a week for each inspector.

During the year thirty applicants appeal from the refusal of inspectors to grant licenses to engineers, firemen or operators of hoisting machinery. The inspectors' decisions were sustained in twenty-four instances, while in the remaining six cases licenses were granted by Boards of Appeal.

The following insurance companies are authorized to inspect and insure steam boilers and air tanks in this Commonwealth:

The Aetna Casualty & Surety Company, Hartford, Conn. Alliance Casualty Company, Philadelphia, Pa. American Automobile Insurance Company, St. Louis, Mo. American Employers' Insurance Company, Boston, Mass. American Mutual Liability Insurance Company, Boston, Mass. American Re-Insurance Company, Philadelphia, Pa. The number of authorized insurance company inspectors now holding certificates of competency from this division is 186. Seventeen applicants for these certificates were examined during the year, and nine of them received certificates.

There have been 27,078 reports of steam boiler inspections and 1,056 reports of air tank inspections made by insurance companies, a total of 28,134 insurance company inspection reports for the year.

DIVISION OF FIRE PREVENTION

General Laws, Chapter 148, provides among other things that all fires of suspicious origin occurring throughout the State exclusive of the city of Boston shall be investigated by the state fire marshal. The duties necessary to accomplish results in this direction are performed by officers of the division of state police who are assigned to specified districts and perform their duties under the direction of a chief fire inspector, who acts as assistant to the fire marshal. The assistant to the marshal is also empowered to administer oaths and take testimony at fire inquests.

The state fire marshal is required to study fire hazard and fire prevention and all matters relating thereto; hear appeals, suggestions and complaints from all persons and from all cities and towns; advise with the officers of such cities and towns; and make suggestions to the General Court and to the cities and towns looking to the improvement of the laws, ordinances and by-laws relating to fire departments, construction of buildings, building or fire limits, use and occupation of buildings and other premises, protection of existing buildings, fire escapes and other life saving devices, segregation and licensing of trades dangerous by reason of fire hazard and all matters relating to fire prevention and fire hazard.

During the year ending November 30, 1932, the fire marshal conferred with representatives of a large number of communities interested in the work of fire prevention and arranged numerous meetings with state, city and town officials with a view to securing improvement in their fire prevention methods.

During the year also it became necessary to revise the regulations of the department concerning garages, oil burners, fuel oil storage, fire works and explosives. In connection with this work of revision, the fire marshal assembled at various times heads of fire departments, representatives of dealers in petroleum products, engineers representing insurance companies, manufacturers of oil burner equipment, garage owners, fireworks manufacturers and manufacturers and dealers in explosives, for the purposes of conferences on these subjects. New regulations were made and promulgated as a result of these conferences and are now working satisfactorily to all concerned.

During the week beginning October 9, 1932, Fire Prevention Week was observed throughout the State and a large number of organizations cooperated with the fire marshal in the special fire prevention work performed during that period.

During the year the work of the state police officers assigned to fire investigation was featured by increased success in the investigation and prosecution of cases arising from incendiarism. Reference to the department reports will show an increase in arrests and prosecutions of these crimes by a large percentage. These reports represent actual arrests of individuals and do not include situations where individual arrests have resulted in indictments on several counts. There was a total of 168 arrests made during the year, involving 261 counts. There were 80 convictions of individuals, 32 were found not guilty and 56 cases are still pending. In cases pending from the previous year 5 convictions were secured, making a total of 85 convictions for crimes of burning during the year. In connection with these cases 4 arrests were made in cases arising from the presentation of false claims under policies of fire insurance, and convictions were secured in every case.

SUPERVISION OF LORD'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS

(Bureau of Sunday Censorship)

During the year ending November 30, 1932, there were submitted to this Bureau for the approval of the Commissioner of Public Safety a total of 21,384 licenses and programs of entertainments to be held on the Lord's Day. Of this number, 21,354 were approved, 29 disapproved and 1 suspended. One license was suspended in Revere, and the following is a list of the disapproved licenses:—Hull, 6; Lowell, 1; Pittsfield, 1; Revere, 5; Salisbury, 10; Shrewsbury, 4; Springfield, 1; Worcester, 1.

Each of these licenses and programs was accompanied by a fee of $2.00, the amount totalling $42,768, which was paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

In addition to the above number of licenses, there were 7,119 reels of motion picture film censored for showing on the Lord's Day, which were disposed of as follows:

Number of reels approved	6,012
Number of reels approved with deletions	1,042
Number of reels disapproved	65
Footage of film censored	6,307,100

There were also submitted for censorship 50 mutoscope reels and 10 sets of drop cards which were disposed of as follows:—

Mutoscope reels approved	45
Mutoscope reels disapproved	5
Drop cards approved	10
Drop cards disapproved	0

There were 3,340 vaudeville acts reviewed for showing on the Lord's Day.

They were acted upon as follows:—

Acts approved	908
Acts approved with deletions	795
Acts disapproved	306
Acts re-reviewed	1,331

Total	3,340

The personnel assigned to this bureau perform various duties in connection with the enforcement of the law governing entertainments held on the Lord's Day in this Commonwealth. In addition to their functions as censors, they are required to perform such other duties as may be assigned them from time to time; such as the checking of licenses as approved by the Commissioner of Public Safety to determine whether or not they are exercised as originally approved. It is also necessary to check all entertainments at the many different theatres, halls, amusement parks and beaches.

The entertainments are varied in character. The theatres and larger halls offer stage presentations, vaudeville and motion pictures, while in the different community theatres and halls, plays are conducted by both professional and amateur performers. Many of these performances are in a foreign tongue and require the service of interpreters in censoring. At the amusement parks and beaches we have the many different rides, games, sideshows, etc., which require a most rigid supervision.

During the past season, business conditions have been very bad in all phases of the amusement business. We have, therefore, been very liberal in our interpretation of the laws and regulations and have tried to help rather than hinder the operators of these amusements. Due to economic conditions, however, many of these amusements survived but a very short time.

As in the past, we have received the cooperation of the majority of operators and licensing authorities in the different cities and towns in which amusement parks and beaches are located. At the beginning of each season a few unscrupulous operators appear who are immediately barred from the amusement business in the commonwealth. In this connection, there were approximately 1,025 performances in theatres inspected. Every amusement device or show operated at the different amusement parks and beaches is inspected at least once during each season. Complaints received relative to violations in any amusement enterprise in the commonwealth are investigated immediately and, if sustained, suitable action is taken. This procedure is absolutely necessary in order to insure a strict compliance with the law.

Below is a summary of the amusements and amounts collected for same during the year 1932:—

	Licenses Number of	Amount
Motion picture exhibitions, vaudeville and theatricals	15,727	$31,454
Amusements at beach resorts and at summer parks	4,886	9,772
Golf driving ranges	547	1,094
Outdoor miniature golf	171	342
Indoor miniature golf	23	46
Total licenses approved	21,354	$42,708
Licenses for various amusements disapproved	29	58
Licenses for various amusements suspended	1	2
Total number of licenses	21,384	$42,768

BUREAU FOR THE STORAGE OF LIQUIDS

This bureau is maintained for the enforcement of the provisions of General Laws, Chapter 148, Sections 37 and 38, relative to the construction, use and maintenance of above-ground tanks of more than ten thousand gallons capacity for the storage of fluids other than water.

The officer in charge is assigned as assistant to the Commissioner for the enforcement of this law in addition to his duties as special boiler inspector.

This work includes the examination of plans, the figuring of stresses, determining compliance with specifications established by regulations, inspection of proposed sites for tank construction, and conferences with engineers, tank manufacturers, architects, public and private fire protection officials, licensing authorities and other municipal officers. In addition, the inspector checks the specifications of all new boilers and air tanks that are being installed in this State. This year specifications of 472 boilers and 412 air tanks were checked in this manner.

During the year ending November 30, 1932, permits were granted in 86 instances for the construction and maintenance of tanks under this law. In addition to this there were 11 permits issued for relocation of tanks.

Since the enactment of this law in 1921, there has been a great improvement in the maintenance of storages of this character due in no small measure to the spirit of cooperation shown by the manufacturers of tanks and others who are interested in installations which are subject to the provisions of the law.

	1931	1932
Number of cities and towns in which tanks are located	193	197
Number of corporations maintaining tanks	303	319
Number of tanks existing under this act	2,606	2,692

STATE BOXING COMMISSION

The State Boxing Commission serves in the department under the authority of Section 12 of Chapter 22 of the General Laws. It consists of the Commissioner of Public Safety, ex officio, who is chairman, and two appointive members. The term of office of Commissioner Eugene Buckley having expired during 1931, Daniel J. Kelly, 29 Grozier Road, Cambridge, was appointed on February 3, 1932, to succeed him and took office immediately.

It was deemed desirable during the year just ended to institute certain changes in the regulations governing boxing in this commonwealth for the purpose of eliminating some objectionable conditions which were found to exist.

Among these changes were amendments to the standard of weights affecting feather weight, welter weight and middle weight boxers which were increased to 126, 147 and 160 respectively; a downward revision of the fee for boxers' licenses and a new regulation regarding the make-up of boxing contest schedules. The latter regulation limits to two the number of boxers any one manager may have competing in an exhibition when the number of bouts in such an exhibition does not exceed six.

Prior to March, 1932, persons appointed as referees or judges of boxing were selected without examination as to their qualifications for the position, the choice of appointees being based upon their known standing in the boxing world and their qualifications as established by experience. Commencing in March, all applicants for such positions were required to take a written examination in order to test their knowledge of boxing law and regulations and the duties of referees and judges at boxing contests. In view of the desirability of fitness in officials of this character, it is worthy of remark that approximately fifty per cent of those taking the examination failed to qualify at a very reasonable passing mark.

A scoring card designed to obtain accuracy in scoring points accumulated by boxers during a contest was devised and put into use during the year. This system of scoring enables the officials acting as judges and referee to record the score at the termination of each round, the score being totalled as the contest progresses and facilitating the speedy announcement of decisions at the close of the contest.

An amendment to the boxing law to permit draw decisions in boxing contests was enacted by the legislature of 1932. This statute (Chapter 79 of the Acts of 1932) took effect on June 12, 1932, and provides that an official may vote for a draw if, in his opinion, neither contestant is entitled to a decision in his favor and if neither contestant receives a majority of the vote of the three officials acting as referee and judges.

Several proposed matches were disapproved during the year by the commission because of disparity of weight or ability of the boxers or because of the fact that the matches were unsuitable for other reasons. Several boxers were suspended for violation of the boxing rules or for failure to keep engagements to perform without adequate reason or excuse. It was found necessary by the officials acting in certain contest to declare forfeited the purse of one or both of the contestant because, in their opinion, the boxers were not competing in good faith.

It is the aim of the commission to give every encouragement possible to the sport of boxing by a liberal interpretation of the boxing law and rules, having in mind always the rights and duties of all concerned and the protection of the public from fraud and imposition.

In carrying out these principles, the commission has endeavored to exercise sound and honest judgment with a view to refraining from any arbitrary action or attitude and to applying disciplinary measures only when the interests of the sport and the public so required.

The financial return to the commonwealth in license fees and tax has shown a decrease this year. This has been due to the fact that a lesser number of exhibitions have been held and that the attendance has fallen off because of the existing financial depression.

Statistical Report

The following is a statistical report for the period ending November 30, 1932:

The number of professional clubs conducting matches and exhibitions was 20 and the number of exhibitions held was 206.

Receipts from license fees $17,754.04

Special and amateur exhibitions held, 184.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE LICENSES

It is provided in General Laws, chapter 147, section 22, that no person shall engage in the business of or solicit business as a private detective unless licensed so to do according to law. Licenses of this character are issued by the Commissioner of Public Safety after careful investigation of the character and standing of the applicant. During the fiscal year of 1932 there was issued a total of 26 licenses, four of which were new licenses to individuals, one new license to corporation, twelve were renewals to individuals and nine were renewals by corporations. Fees amounting to $3,600 were received for these licenses and paid to the Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

SALE AND CARRYING OF FIREARMS

The enactment of Chapter 485 of the Acts of 1922, amending Chapter 140, Sections 121 to 131, of the General Laws, relative to the sale and carrying of firearms, imposed upon this Department the supervision of the records of sales made and licenses issued in accordance with the provisions of the act.

During the year commencing December 1, 1931, and ending November 30, 1932, the following records were received and recorded in the files of this Department:

Number of licenses issued to dealers, 43; revoked, none.

Number of sales reported by dealers, 578.

Number of licenses issued for the carrying of firearms, 17,751.

Number of licenses issued for the carrying of firearms revoked, 79.

Number of permits to purchase firearms issued and not used, 78.

IN MEMORIAM

The following named members of the Department of Public Safety died during the year ending November 30, 1932:

ARTHUR F. ROACH, Building Inspector—Entered the service of the Commonwealth July 14, 1909; died January 9, 1932.

JOSEPH E. O'CONNOR, Lieutenant, State Police—Entered the service of the Commonwealth September 1, 1921; died March 27, 1932.

CHARLES F. MCGONAGLE, Patrolman, State Police—Entered the service of the Commonwealth February 3, 1930; died August 2, 1932.

CHARLES SKOGLUND, Boiler Inspector—Entered the service of the Commonwealth March 25, 1912; died August 10, 1932.

THOMAS A. THOMPSON, State Police Fire Inspector—Entered the service of the Commonwealth April 10, 1911; died November 15, 1932.

The passing of these members of the department has meant not only a loss to the service of the commonwealth but a distinct personal loss to me in that their service was marked by a fine sense of loyalty and obedience to authority.

In the performance of their various duties they consistently maintained a high level of efficiency and earned the respect and esteem of the public by their many fine personal qualities as well as by the excellent character of their service.

IN GENERAL

The year which ended November 30, 1932, has been marked by the attainment of satisfactory results in the performance of the various duties incumbent on the department. The acquisition of authority to increase the number and strength of our radio broadcasting units has enabled us to make definite progress in improving the State Police communication system. This improvement was aided by the development of our teletype system which has added greatly to the efficiency of the department. The use of these methods of communication, improved methods of criminal identification and cooperation of other police authorities have served as important factors in the suppression of criminal activities.

To the various officials of the Commonwealth who have extended to us their cooperation in the public service and to the personnel of the department who have given their continued loyal support to the Commissioner, I wish to extend my thanks and appreciation.

Respectfully submitted,

A. F. FOOTE, Commissioner.
